YAFA Gets Vote of Confidence

A unanimous vote of confidence was given to the Young Adults for Action for their work programs and effectiveness in the community at a special meeting held recently at YAFA headquarters in Seaside.

Representatives from the probation and parole departments, the department of corrections, the Seaside Police and interested citizens from the peninsula heard reports about the various YAFA activities including rehabilitation, employment, education, recreation and drug abuse programs.

Lee Toler, the director of Young Adults for Action, expressed concern that the recent arrest of YAFA administrator, Jimmy Roy, might have a negative effect in the community, making it harder for them to continue their rehabilitation program.

"This incident will in no way affect your program," was the general opinion of the audience. Franklin Powell, minority consultant from the department of corrections in Sacramento, Vernon Adams from the adult parole department, Frank Marinello from the California Council of Criminal Justice and John F. Schellhass from the county probation department, each individually commended YAFA's outstanding accomplishments.

Stephen Ross, Seaside Councilman, said that nowhere in the state is there a program that is as effective as YAFA's rehabilitation work.

Terrence J. Mangan, community relations officer for the Seaside Police commented:

"In any program utilizing parolees, some individual failures are going to occur. It is unfair to judge the program by the acts of some of its members, even when these are in high staff level personnel. It is our feeling that the YAFA project is accomplishing quite a bit of good in the community and that some real progress is being made."

Mrs. Charles Knight from the Monterey Unified School District stated that her office works closely with YAFA on both adult and youth education programs. Supervisor Willard Branson felt that the Young Adults for Action had gained the confidence of all those who had worked with them since the organization's inception.

Father Charles L. Moore of Xavier Church in Seaside said that he worked on their problems with YAFA staff members. He also said that he is going to ask all ministers to talk from the pulpit about the helpful work YAFA was doing in the community.

Attorney Charles Page and

Col. Allen Griffin, two members of the Committee of Five who have given the Young Adults for Action financial backing were also present. Others at the meeting were: Judge Ralph Crummond; Johnnie May Conner, CYA Division of Community Services; Mrs. K.R. Wyatt, representing the Committee of 200; attorney Michael Panelli; Ann McGinnis and Mrs. Joseph Lucero from the Outreach and Social Concern; Mrs. Kathleen A. Davis, Rev. McFadden from the Food Bank and King Harris chairman of the meeting.

Lee Toler, James Golden, R.T. Brown, George Solomon, and Tommy Cross explained the various YAFA programs.

At the conclusion of the meeting, Frank Marinello of the California Council of Criminal Justice said that the Council would like personal letters from interested citizens, recommending YAFA's work programs. These letters are to accompany YAFA's application for second year funding for their rehabilitation programs. They should be sent to Mr. Marinello at P.O. Box 248, Salinas, CA. 93901.

Bill Will Aid Rural Job Development

Congressman Burt L. Talcott has announced that he has introduced a bill, H.R. 10878, the Rural Job Development Act of 1971.

Talcott said, "the purpose of the Act is to increase the effective use of the human and natural resources of rural America; to slow the migration from rural areas due to lack of economic opportunity and to reduce population pressures in urban centers resulting from such forced migration."

Citing the need for the legislation, Talcott said, "over the past several decades, rising production expenses, higher taxes and declining farm prices have forced millions of farmers out of business, as well as the closing of many business establishments in rural communities."

"The Rural Job Development Act," Talcott explained, "would encourage job-creating industries in our rural areas which stimulate economic activity and create income opportunity and would be a logical and reasonable means of developing rural jobs."

RECORD FOR CHARITY - Business was brisk at McDonald's Hamburger Restaurant Friday evening when sales receipts from three-hour period were donated to United Fund campaign to finance 15 social welfare and character building agencies on Monterey Peninsula. Fred Sandman, owner of eating place, donated food and beverages and employees contributed their time to bring $1,019.48 to United Fund. First United Fund night at McDonald's three years ago raised $375 and this year set record by almost tripling amount. This year cash receipts between 6 and 7 p.m. were $442, record amount for one hour since restaurant's opening more than three years ago.

Open House at Independent Savings

Seaside's first savings and loan office has just opened at 1033 Broadway, east of Fremont. Offering full savings and loan facilities to the Seaside community, the new office is a branch of Independent Savings and Loan Association, headquartered in Salinas.

A Treasure Chest Open House is being held through Saturday, October 16, to celebrate the opening. Residents are receiving keys in the mail to bring to Independent Savings and try their luck at opening a Treasure Chest. Winners will receive valuable prizes. But nobody will go away empty-handed and refreshments will be served throughout Open House days.

Independent Savings offers savings accounts that pay the highest interest rates in the country with insured safety. Passbook accounts can be opened with as little as a $5 deposit and earn 5 percent a year. Larger accounts can earn substantially more.

The company also is seeking good real estate loans in the Seaside area and welcomes inquiries about long-term financing on any kind of real estate.

Office hours are: 10 a.m.

Grunsky Opposes Project

Following the recent announcement of a proposed 618-unit apartment project on the Sand City beachfront, State Senator Donald L. Grunsky released the following reaction statement:

"Pending passage of coastline protection legislation, I am opposed to any such development on the beachfront in Monterey Bay or anywhere along the coastline at this time, unless it has the approval of all other city and county governments in the area and also the recognized responsible conservation groups."

"Until we have a strong coastline bill in effect, there is no assurance that such a proposed beach frontage development will meet the standards to be established to protect the natural and scenic resources in the coastal zone."

Museum Closed

The Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art will be closed to the public through Thursday, October 30, for painting and refurbishing.

A champagne-preview at 6:30 p.m., Friday, October 29, of the works of Gloria Vanderbilt, whose paintings and collages will be exhibited during the month of November, will reopen the Museum. Miss Vanderbilt will be present for the reception.

No Change

A senior Reagan Administration official recently announced that California's unemployment rate in August was 7.0 percent, unchanged from the July rate.

Ord Hobby Shop, Marina Community Center, Los Arboles Jr. High, Seaside High and Fitch Jr. High School. Professional and amateur artists are both welcomed.

Big Top Show Aids Programs

The nostalgia of the old-fashioned circus under the Big Top, combined with modern day know-how and thoroughly polished performances, is in store for children of all ages when the De Wayne Bros. Circus comes to the Monterey Fairgrounds, October 11, for two daily performances under the auspices of the Monterey County Anti-Poverty Coordinating Council, Inc. with proceeds from the circus benefiting the Youth Development and Senior Citizens Programs of the Council.

One of the few remaining tented circuses still traveling across America and Canada, the De Wayne Bros. Circus features animals galore, hilarious clowns, acrobats, aerialists, disciplined canine cuties, jugglers, spectacular trampoline and teeter board artists, plus many other thrilling circus acts.

Performances are scheduled for 4:30 and 8 p.m. Tickets may be obtained through the Monterey County Anti-Poverty Coordinating Council, Inc., at 6 - West Cablan St., Salinas and at the Fairgrounds Gate on circus day. The show will also appear at Castroville on October 10, at Salinas on October 12, and at Soledad on October 13.

Contact the Council at 424-0091 for more information.

Welfare Reform Act Regulations Filed

Robert B. Carleson, State Director of Social Welfare, has announced that regulations implementing the recently passed Welfare Reform Act of 1971 were filed with the Secretary of State.

"The regulations filed are the first of a series that allows the counties to implement the Act, which became effective October 1, 1971," Carleson stated. Copies of the regulations were distributed to all counties prior to their filing.

"We have been working very closely with a representative group of county personnel in the development of these regulations," Carleson indicated.

Among the more significant regulations filed are those affecting out-of-state recipients, aliens and college students. The Welfare Reform Act limits the period of time that a recipient may be out-of-state to 60 days. After that time the recipient is presumed to have relocated his residence and welfare aid from California is discontinued.

The new rules also stress that students, age 17 and over, must be attending college full time and maintaining passing grades.

Aliens are no longer eligible for aid if they entered the country illegally. Provisions have been made with the Immigration and Naturalization Service to determine the aliens' status.

Other regulations filed have the following effects:

*Under penalty of perjury recipients must periodically present statements of facts for redetermination of their eligibility

*When emergency assistance to an applicant is necessary, it is limited to $100 and eligibility must be verified within five working days

*County welfare staff are now required to provide simply the amount of aid to which the recipient is entitled, rather than the "maximum" permitted, as was the case under previous law

*When a person works on an annual contract basis and receives total earnings in less than twelve but more than eight months, income is averaged for the whole year to give a monthly figure

*Earnings from interest have been added as an income classification to be considered in eligibility and grant determination

*Lump sum income, except for social insurance payments will be considered as income for the month during which it is received

*"Casual" income, and income from "inconsequential" sources, will not be counted as income, up to the sum of $60 per quarter

*Grants to undergraduate college students from the State Scholarship and Loan Commission, or accredited college, will not be considered as income

*Up to one-half of the income of a stepfather is his wife's community property and will be considered available to her to reduce the amount of grant to her children on aid. The stepfather will be allowed a deduction of $300 plus any prior support liability

*An increased scale of liability was instituted, governing contributions that may be required of responsible relatives of persons receiving Old Age Assistance. Payments from liable relatives will be made to the county rather than to the recipient.

Carleson also said that "additional regulations are currently being drafted to implement the balance of the welfare reform program and will be issued in the near future."

Wants Bill Passed

Senator Alan Cranston has urged State Senate passage of an Assembly coastline preservation bill "to encourage Congressional support for federal help to coastal states for land planning and beach-marine protection."

Cranston wired State Senate President Pro Tem James Mills that he supports A.B. 1471 by Assemblyman Alan Sierchy which passed the lower house last week.

He asked Mills to inform the Senate of his support and said State action "would greatly strengthen my own efforts in the U.S. Senate to preserve our magnificent coastal resources for all of the people."

The Senior Democratic Senator said that California action in coastal zone planning and protection "directly ties in to my own Senate bills, S 01446-1452, to create six federal oil-free marine sanctuaries along the California coast matching existing state sanctuaries and other proposed Senate legislation for coastal protection and land use planning by states."

"Favorable action by your body on A.B. 1471 would indicate to the Congress an interest in the problems of coastal protection and a willingness by the state to cooperate with federal programs in this direction. We also hope to provide federal support to help states fund planning and operational programs for coastal protection and development."

Seminar to Discuss Penal System

The Monterey County Solead Community announces a seminar series on the California penal system. The penal system seems to be breaking down and they feel this will be a place where people of varying persuasions can exchange views on the subject.

A wide variety of people are being invited to speak, including legislators, Department of Corrections people, ex-inmates, families of inmates, probation and parole officers, lawyers, psychologists, sociologists, prison officials and others.

After they speak, the participants will be asked to participate in a discussion using their particular expertise to help answer such questions as "Why are minority group people more often imprisoned?" "Is rehabilitation a fraud?" "What is crime?" and "Should white collar criminals be treated as lower class ones?" Meetings will be Tuesdays at 8 and generally at Monterey Peninsula College.

The series will be given as a class in the University for Man.

Classes For Volunteers Have Begun

A six-session Tuesday evening training program for school volunteer aides has begun under the joint sponsorship of the Monterey Peninsula Unified School District and Monterey Peninsula College.

In announcing the program, Mrs. DeForest Sweeney, chairman of VIMS (Volunteers in Monterey Schools), said that volunteers are needed to serve a few hours per week in school libraries, classrooms and offices and "to share their hobbies, collections, skills and occupational knowledge with children."

Designed to train "men and women from all walks of life" for such service, the sessions, featuring lectures by school personnel, will be held in Room M-10, next to the MPC music hall, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

All adults from college age up are eligible to attend and may earn college credit. A $3 fee will be charged those not already registered as MPC students.

Session 3 will be held October 12. The topic is "Helping the Teacher in the Reading Program." Speaking will be Mrs. Mareta Varner, MPUSD reading and language arts consultant.

Session 4 will discuss "The Elementary Math Program." James Mitchell, principal, Highland School, is the lecturer.

The topic of Session 5 is "Understanding Disadvantaged Children," by Dr. Henry T. Hutchins, assistant superintendent and Mrs. Charlie Knight, director of special programs, MPUSD.

Session 6 will feature "Behavior Modification," by Marshall Chatwin, director of counseling and guidance, PC.

Persons desiring further information on the program or on VIMS are urged to call Mrs. Sweeney (624-5925), the MPUSD personnel office (849-7254) or the Volunteer Bureau (373-6664).

Seaside Ripples

A. E. 'Andy' Barragan, Publisher

For a long time, I have wanted to discuss the ridiculous situation that exists here on the Monterey Peninsula where we have six separate municipal governments governing an area so compact that you can travel from one end to the other in about ten minutes. What brought the situation to an abrupt head at this time was the announcement from Sand City that they were going to build an apartment complex there with 618 units. I don't want to argue that these apartments would be any better or worse than what already exists in Sand City now; what I do want to point out is that here, sandwiched in between Seaside and the bay is a small municipality that can do as it pleases with the shoreline that runs in front of most of Seaside and there apparently isn't anything anyone can do about it.

The other night the matter of the 618-unit apartment proposed for Sand City was brought up at a meeting of the Peninsula Area Planning Commission, which was set up expressly for the purpose of giving some long range guidance in just such matters as this. Some of the local, small politicians started telling the Planning Commission that they don't have the authority to tell Sand City what they should build or not build in Sand City. Mayor Calabrese of Sand City threatened to walk out on the commission if the members took a position on the matter at all. The reason given was that Sand City is an incorporated city and that the commission doesn't have the authority to pass judgement on a project within the confines of an incorporated city. Now this is the crux of my whole discussion.

PG&E $4,000 Scholarship Filings Due

High school seniors living or attending school in areas served by Pacific Gas and Electric Company are reminded by the company of the October 30 deadline for filing applications to compete for one of PG&E's $4,000 scholarships. Application forms are available at any company office or through school counselors.

Dr. David B. Stewart, director of PG&E's educational activities, said 16 scholarships with a total value of $64,000 will be awarded next April. Each winner will receive $1,000 a year for four years of college study. Twelve regional scholarships are apportioned among geographic operating divisions of the company in Northern and Central California. These scholarships are awarded to students who reside or attend high school in the designated area for each award.

Two scholarships will be awarded for special recognition of students recommended by their schools for their achievements despite disadvantages. The remaining two scholarships are awarded to students whose parents or guardians are employees of PG&E. The latter four awards are made in competition throughout PG&E's service area.

On the basis of Scholastic Aptitude Tests (SAT) taken by senior students on November 6 or December 4, or previously in 1971, the 25 highest ranking applicants in the regional and company employee categories will be selected as quarter finalists. SAT applications are available from high school counselors.

Judging by a panel of civic leaders, Dr. Stewart said, will narrow the field of candidates to 10 for each of the 14 regional or employee scholarships. From these students three will be selected to compete in the finals for each

MEET - Congressman Burt L. Talcott discusses Low Cost Rural Housing Programs for 12th Congressional District with State Director of Farmers Home Administration for California, Mr. Douglas Young, at meeting in Washington, D.C. Recent changes in FHA regulations make communities with up to 10,000 population eligible for Farmers Home Administration Funds. Previous limit was 5,500 in population. Number of 12th District projects have already been funded by FHA.

Be wary of Blue Box

Pacific Telephone has announced it is stepping up its efforts to seek prosecution of users of the infamous "blue box," an illegal electronic device which allows the user to make unlimited free long-distance calls.

That's the word from Don Boston, PT&T local manager. The crackdown came on the heels of a U.S. Supreme Court decision denying a hearing for three Santa Clara County men who were indicted by a Grand Jury and later found guilty of, among other things, conspiring to defraud PT&T through the use of a "blue box." The California Supreme court earlier made a similar denial.

Pacific Telephone first became aware of the trio's activities in November, 1966, when they discovered some 2,000 direct-dialed Directory Assistance calls were made from one San Jose phone to many points throughout the country.

Though there is no charge for long-distance Directory Assistance calls, a record of each such direct-dialed call to information is automatically made by accounting equipment.

By predetermined operation the blue box (technically known as a multifrequency signal generator) could be triggered to switch the call from a long-distance Directory Assistance line directly into long-distance switching equipment, hence bypassing regular central office call-recording equipment.

A thorough investigation by PT&T security agents disclosed that the San Jose calls were being diverted by the blue box from Directory Assistance numbers in distant cities to telephones in other areas.

The Santa Clara County District Attorney's office later conducted further, extensive investigations, which indicated there existed a large bookmaking ring which was illegally making free use of phone service in its operations and a Grand Jury subsequently returned an indictment against Frank Garber, Charles Teran and Benny Noto.

At the time of their arrest police officers and investigators found three blue box devices at the homes of the defendants.

At the trial beginning on October 30, 1967, it was proven that the defendants had used PT&T circuits to make calls between San Jose, Los Angeles and San Francisco through such circuitous routes as Des Moines, Tulsa, Albuquerque and Sacramento.

All such calls were made toll-free on the DDD network through the use of the blue box.

On January 19, 1968, Santa Clara County Superior Court Judge Joseph Kelley found each defendant guilty of each

World Premier Opens New Travel Series

"Impressions of Greece" will have its world premier engagement as the opening event of this year's EXPLORAMA series. The film will be narrated in person by its producer and photographer, a former Carmel resident, Philip Walker. It will have two showings at 8:15 p.m. Friday and Saturday, October 22 and 23 at Carmel Sunset Cultural Center Auditorium. Philip Walker grew up in and every count charged in the Grand Jury indictment. The trio received sentences ranging from fines to jail terms.

An appeal to the District Court of Appeal affirmed the judgement against the three men and held that PT&T acted properly in gathering the evidence necessary to prosecute the defendants and in protecting itself against illegal use of its lines.

The refusal to grant a hearing by the California and U.S. Supreme Courts, in effect, upholds the District Court of Appeal and Superior Court decisions, thereby setting a precedent for future blue box cases.

Avoiding lawful charges by means of such devices as a blue box in California can result in fines of up to $5,000 and imprisonment for up to five years.

northern California and in Carmel-by-the-Sea. His ancestors, beginning with the pilgrims, had continued west and in his own parents' generation reached the Pacific. Walker recalls his boyhood on the Monterey Peninsula as "an intimate friendship with the out-of-doors and an introduction to adventure."

He found great satisfaction from books. The stories of Conrad, Melville, and R.L. Stevenson stimulated his natural interest in travel.

In an early experience he sailed a 75-foot boat from Sydney, Australia, to Cebu City in the Philippines. The voyage lasted several months and encountered a variety of hair-raising circumstances along the Great Barrier Reef and the northern coast of New Guinea.

In 1961 he flew with two Swiss from Switzerland to Italy and became the first American to cross the Alps in a free floating hydrogen-filled balloon. The National Geographic magazine printed his story of this extraordinary flight, "Across the Alps in a Wicker Basket," in its 75th Anniversary Issue of January, 1963.

Phillip Walker had been an actor in Carmel's summer theatre and later joined the National Broadcasting Company as an announcer. He subsequently wrote and directed for NBC and produced his own independent programs for television. In 1953 he and his wife, Florence, became full-time producers of travel motion pictures. They have since been to most of the world.

The Walkers, during the rare periods when they are not travelling, make their home at Westport, Connecticut.

Future films of the series will cover Israel, Finland, Alaska, Portugal, Germany and Bali. All will be narrated in person by their producers. Reserved seat series and single program tickets are now available at the Abinante Music Store in Monterey, the Julia Marlow Box Office at Sunset Cultural Center in Carmel.

Yoga Class

In addition to the twenty classes offered by the YWCA of the Monterey Peninsula at the USO, YOGA may now be also studied by beginners. The class will be held Mondays, at 1:30 p.m.

The full schedule of YWCA classes and gatherings on Travel, Ecology, Walking Tours may be obtained by sending a postcard to P.O. Box 2492, Carmel, or telephoning 624-3506.

How can we keep the peninsula as beautiful as it now is, if each little municipality is going to be allowed to go its own selfish way without regard for the effect on the entire peninsula. We had the same thing happen recently when the matter of sewage disposal was before us. At least in that case there was a State Board, the Water Control Board with some authority and armed with a state law with some teeth in it that made the recalcitrant city governments get in line and straighten out the whole sewage mess. Even with that law, the problem still is being fought by certain small politicians who don't want to spend the money necessary to keep the bay clean.

Let's examine the ridiculous situation of these small so-called municipalities. We have Carmel, Pacific Grove, Monterey, Seaside, Del Rey Oaks and Sand City all with a mayor, city council, planning commission, fire department, police department, building and public works department, city halls, fire stations and police stations. It is possible to go on and on about the duplicity of services being offered and paid for by each of these small communities.

Nobody can tell me that this is economical. It sure isn't; all that it does is provide small politicians offices and jobs that aren't needed if they could all be incorporated under one type of peninsula-wide city government. We would then only need one police chief instead of six; one fire chief, instead of six; one planning director instead of six; one city manager instead of six and on and on. Look at the savings on these jobs alone, not to mention the staff that each of these departments has. I'm really surprised that some of those right-wing bleeding hearts that are always crying about high taxes and the high cost of welfare haven't gotten hold of this issue and used some of their plentiful supply of money to start a drive to incorporate these six cities. Maybe its because most of those right-wing bleeding hearts are in on some of the deals that they can get through these same planning commissions over which they have some control.

The commission meeting that I mentioned above wouldn't even pass a motion to back the efforts of our two legislators, Bob Wood and Senator Grunsky in behalf of AB 1471, which would create a Coastal Zone Conservation Commission and six regional boards to control shoreline development. The proposed motion caused commissioner Robert E. McDonald of Sand City to protest that "it would take all control from our board of supervisors and the cities and put in the hands of the State."

Does Mr. McDonald really think that control of our shoreline would be in the hands of the city officials of Sand City? Has he been down to the shoreline in Sand City recently and looked at the mess that has been piled up there? A mess of old cement and blocks that has actually made a dump of this once beautiful shoreline. Is this the way that local officials would protect our shoreline? It sure is. Even Monterey, which I felt had a pretty strict standard in regard to the shoreline, recently allowed some of the most awful atrocities called apartments to be built on the shore and they will be there forever to mar that particular beautiful shoreline. Yes, I think that we would be better off allowing the state to control the shoreline rather than the selfish interests that are represented in the Sand City municipal set-up. I think that we should give all of the support that we possibly can to our two able legislators and show them by letter and phone calls that we support their efforts to control our shoreline from those who would despoil it.

Your Social Security

Can I find out what my future benefits under social security will be as I am setting up a retirement program?

You may phone the social security office and we will be happy to give you an estimate of your benefit. It is essential that you give us your date of birth and an approximation of your yearly earnings for computation purposes. You should also consider survivors and disability benefits under social security in your plans for the future.

I was in a serious auto accident some time ago and the doctor doesn't know if I will ever recover sufficiently to return to work. I am 52 years old and have worked for the same company 22 years. I have heard through my neighbor that there may be some type of disability benefit payable through the social security program. However, I am still confined to my home and must remain in bed most of the time. What is my first step in getting these payments?

In order to get disability benefits under social security, you must file an application. We can start your application by telephone if you will phone the office. Since you did not say how you had been off work because of your disability, I suggest you call the office immediately as disability benefits may only be made retroactive 12 months. If we should need to see you, we can have a representative of the office stop by your home at a convenient time since you are confined to your home because of your disability.

My uncle is 86 years old. Lately, he can't remember whether or not he got his monthly social security check. Usually, he misplaces it. Is it possible for me to receive his social security check for him?

Yes, if your uncle cannot manage his own money, the Social Security Administration can select someone to receive the check for him. For more information, you should call or visit the social security office.

Drive soberly, advises the National Automobile Club.

Questions & Answers

Q -- Is it true that World War II veterans may apply for a GI loan without regard to the length of time they have been out of service?

A -- Yes, a recent law restored unused expired loan guaranty entitlement to all veterans who were previously eligible. The is no longer a time limit on applying for a GI loan.

Q -- My 59-year-old father is a veteran of World War II, and he is receiving a pension because he is unable to work. Can he be treated in a VA hospital even though his condition is not related to his military service?

A -- Yes, if a VA examination confirms that he needs hospitalization and a bed is available. Because he receives a pension it will not be necessary for him to sign a statement of inability to pay.

Q -- My husband is in a nursing home. He is a veteran, but his condition is not related to military service. Will VA pay for his nursing home care?

A -- VA is permitted to provide nursing home care, for a limited time, only for those veterans who have received maximum benefit from VA hospitalization yet still need nursing.

Q -- I have an uncle who is a veteran of World War I who desires domiciliary care. Does the VA have any of these institutions?

A -- Yes, the VA has 16 of these institutions. Any VA office will help your uncle file an application.

Is Richard Nixon trying to save China? This is one very strong possibility, considering his apparent change in attitude toward China. On the surface, of course, it looks as though his main concern is to save the 1972 election for Richard Nixon, and opening up some new sales outlets for America's manufacturing goods might help our economy. It is quite obvious to most observers by now that America is going to drop from first place to second or third in the world economic picture rather rapidly. We simply can't compete with some other countries, because our prices are too high, and no amount of import barrier legislation is going to change this sad fact.

So, at first glance we've got a great thing going. China will buy our radios and automobiles and sewing machines, etcetera, and our steel plants will re-open, and a happy population will re-elect Tricky Dick in 1972. But there is one little catch. We are already buying our radios and sewing machines and automobiles from Japan and West Germany because they are cheaper, and I doubt that the Chinese would buy our stuff at higher prices just out of the goodness of their hearts.

On the other hand, maybe the fellow who decided Spiro Agnew would be a good Vice President is much more intelligent than he appears. A definitely scary thought, but supposing Mr. Nixon is smart

Q -- How may I use my dividends to prevent my National Service Life Insurance from lapsing or to pay my premiums in advance?

A -- You have the choice of a "credit option" or a "premium option".

If you use the former, you must notify the VA before your next dividend is due, and request it be held as a credit. The, whenever needed to prevent a policy lapse, one monthly premium at a time will be deducted from the credit, and you will notified.

As I See It

By Mel Vercoe

enough to recognize that before long China will not be one of the world nuclear powers, because a frightened Russia will be forced to destroy China's nuclear potential rather than have to live alongside it for the next two or three hundred years. Supposing Mr. Nixon is also aware that our greatest diplomatic weapon against communism is the fact that there are two different communist ideologies (Chinese and Russian) that we can play against each other, which we have now at long last begun to do.

American friendliness with China could be a thorn in the side of Russian plans for a pre-emptive nuclear strike on China. It might hasten the strike so that it could be over and done with before we got too lovey-dovey with the Chinese, or it might delay it indefinitely, which would mean preservation of China as a balancing power to keep the over-all communist threat from getting too well organized.

Richard Nixon is desperate.

He kept the war going for almost three years after his election for fear of what its end might do to our economy and his reelection chances, and he just missed it by one year. Now he apparently recognizes that the whole thing is pretty bleak and nothing much he can do will change it. He can make a pretense of controlling inflation with his control authority, but it has already proved unworkable, and its continuance will simply serve to alienate the voters he definitely must not alienate. But, if he can tell us a year from now that through his efforts we still have the communists split into two warring camps, then he will at least have something to say. In addition, although I think this is far beyond his brain capacity, he may be looking far into the future when the Nazis and the Japanese will again pose serious threats. Neither of these threats is taken lightly by other powers. Russia is watching Germany like a hawk, and America's instability as a Pacific power is going to force Japan to very soon arm itself to the teeth with nuclear weapons. We may very well then find Russia and Japan allied against China and the United States. We are reasonably certain China would never accept Japan as an ally. So, we may need China, very badly. The phony arms sales pitches we have been getting about the Chinese threat are about worn out, anyway. But, be of good cheer. Maybe Mao Tse Tung will trade part of the Great Wall for Sirol Agnew and a picture of Martha Mitchell.

Too Much Protein May Be Harmful

High protein diets which emphasize the use of meat and dairy products actually may be detrimental to the health, a prominent nutritionist says.

Writing in the current Journal of the American Chiropractic Association, Dr. Andrew R. Jessen of Salinas says many Americans have gone on what he calls a "protein binge."

They consider high-protein diets a "panacea" for optimum health, Dr. Jessen says and, yet, often are not aware of the potential ill effects of excessive protein intake.

According to Dr. Jessen's report, which won the top ACA award for scientific papers, many health-conscious Americans have been over-impressed by scientific studies indicating laboratory animals grow larger when fed high protein diets.

Says Dr. Jessen: "This may be ideal for commercial feeders of poultry and livestock who must attempt to produce animals of a certain weight within a certain calendar time."

However, he emphasizes, humans -- with the possibility of a much longer lifespan than domestic livestock -- should not consider rapid growth and attainment of maximum physical size a true measure of health and longevity.

Dr. Jessen points out that, although thousands of hours have been spent in research on the subject of nutrition, opinion still prevails over fact.

He says the commonly accepted minimum requirement of 70 grams of protein a day actually is supported by little scientific evidence.

In Dr. Jessen's research, he says, he has gathered evidence that 44 grams of protein a day may be adequate to sustain health in an adult man of average size.

In his report, Dr. Jessen notes that prosperity often is accompanied by a marked increase in the quantity of bacon, eggs, meat and other high-protein foods.

But, he says, these are the very things which often play a role in setting the stage for cardiovascular disease.

Dr. Jessen suggests, therefore, that Americans reduce their intake of animal fats and replace them as often as possible with such things as raw nuts and sunflower seeds.

Dance Class Beginning

A ten-week workshop in experimental dance will begin Tuesday, October 12, in the dance studio in the Monterey Peninsula College gymnasium.

Presented by MPC Community Services with Carol Anne Surman as leader, the workshop will meet weekly, 7:30 to 9:30 p.m., through December 14.

Enrollment will be limited to 25 persons of all ages and a $15 registration fee is payable in advance at the community services office on campus.

The course will concentrate on "developing the individual's capacity for creative movement" through attention to such concepts as center, placement, relaxation and tension. Movement contrasts in timing, space, shape, effort and relationship of the dancers will also be explored. Miss Surman, who holds a B.A. degree from San Jose State College and an M.A. in dance from George Washington University, has performed with two contemporary dance companies, choreographed several works and led numerous workshops throughout the Washington (D.C.) area.

Commission Adopts New Regulations

California will have liberal 93-day waterfowl seasons for 1971-72 in most areas under regulations adopted by the California Fish and Game Commission.

Regulations were adopted at the commission meeting August 19 in San Francisco.

The general hunting area will have a straight season on ducks from October 16 to January 16 with a bag limit of seven per day and seven in possession.

Southern California hunters will have a split 88-day duck season from October 9 to November 14 and from November 27 through January 16. Bag limits also are seven and seven.

Regulations were adopted at the commission meeting August 19 in San Francisco.

The general hunting area will have a straight season on ducks from October 16 to January 16 with a bag limit of seven per day and seven in possession.

Southern California hunters will have a split 88-day duck season from October 9 to November 14 and from November 27 through January 16. Bag limits also are seven and seven.

The northeastern area, which follows the Oregon framework, will have a straight duck season from October 9 to January 9 with a daily bag limit of six and a possession limit of 12.

The Colorado River area, following the Arizona pattern, will have a straight duck season of October 16 to January 16. Limits are six and 12.

The only species restriction on ducks is that no more than two canvasbacks may be included in the daily bag and possession limit.

The goose season dates for the various areas will coincide with those set for ducks except for the Colorado River area, where the season will be from November 13 to January 9. In the southern zone the season for Canada geese will close on January 9. The general season area will have a limit of six geese per day, six in possession, of which at least three must be white geese and no more than three may be of the dark species.

In the northeast the limit is three per day, six in possession, but the limit may be increased to six provided three or more are white geese.

In the Colorado River area the goose limit is six in bag or possession, and such limit must contain not less than four white geese and not more than two of the dark species, including Canada geese or their subspecies. The season will close January 9.

In the balance of Fish and Game District 22 (Imperial County, eastern Riverside County and southeastern San Bernardino County) only one bird may be a Canada goose or its subspecies. Hunting for Canada geese in this area will stop at sunset December 26 on state and federal areas--the Imperial Wildlife Area and the Salton Sea National Wildlife Refuge.

The southern California zone bag limits for geese will follow those of the general season except that only two Canada geese may be taken, and the season on these will close on January 9.

For all of California the daily bag and possession limit may not include more than one Ross's goose.

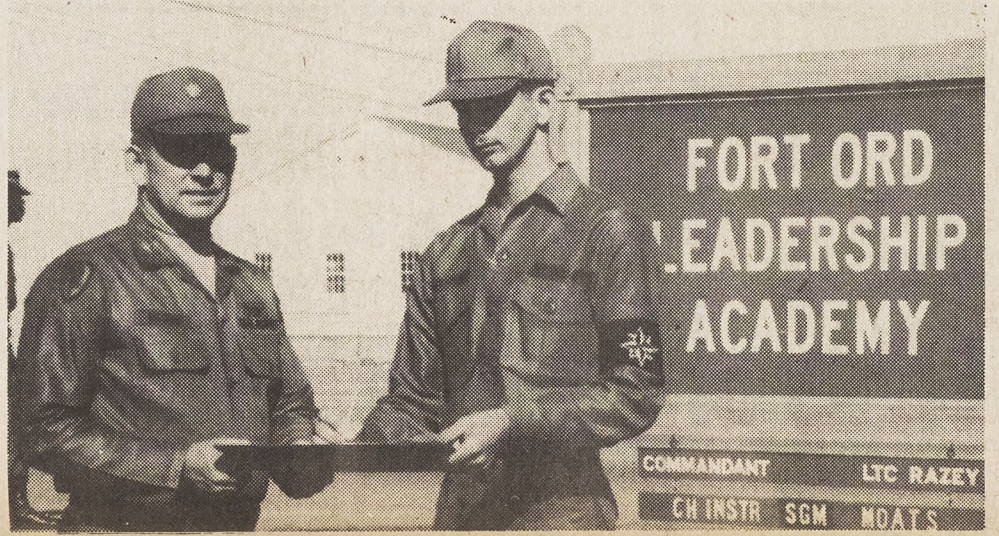

The statewide bag and possession limit for coots and gallinules is 25 birds, singly or in the aggregate of species.

Hunting season for black sea brant is November 20, 1971 through February 20, 1972, with a daily bag limit of four and total possession if eight.

The season for jacksnipe is 65 days, November 13 through January 16, with bag limits the same as last year, eight per day and 16 in possession.

Contest For Music Lovers

The Carmel Music Society is sponsoring a contest among students to see who can be the first to identify the musical score on the cover of its brochure this year.

The contest is open to all high school and junior college students and the first person to identify the score, with the earliest postmark, will receive a free ticket for the 1971-72 concert series. Second prize will either be two tickets to a single concert (which would allow the winner to take a friend) or one ticket to two concerts. Third prize will be one ticket to one concert.

Copies of the brochure may be obtained from the Music Society office in the Fireside Gallery (downstairs from The Guitar Shop) on Dolores near 5th Street in Carmel. The Gallery is open between 10:30 a.m. and 5 p.m. seven days a week.

A few copies of the brochure will also be available from the Music Department at MPC and the music instructors at the various high schools.

This season's program should be especially interesting to young people.

Opening the season on November 4 will be 23-year-old pianist, Garrick Ohlsson, who won the International Chopin Piano Competition in Warsaw at the age of 22.

Also of special interest will be the concert to be given later in the season by Julian Bream, considered the greatest virtuoso of the guitar. He is equally well-known for his accomplishments on the lute and his program will include selections on the lute.

Other scheduled concerts will include Metropolitan Opera stars James McCracken, tenor and his wife, Sandra Warfield, mezzo-soprano, in a duo concert; the world-renowned chamber orchestra, I Solisti di Zagreb and the Western Opera Theater Production of "La Cenerentola" (Cinderella).

Contest entries should be mailed to the Carmel Music Society, P.O. Box 1144, Carmel, 93921. Entries must be postmarked not later than Saturday, October 16th. The decision of the judges will be final.

Workshop Is Planned

A one-day Counseling and Guidance Workshop jointly sponsored by the South Peninsula and Monterey Bay Federal College Association will be held next Wednesday, October 13, from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. at Monterey Peninsula College.

Bill Bobrow, MPC placement officer, will act as host to participants and guests invited from two local high schools, the fifteen two-year and four-year colleges represented by the combined Federal College Associations. Members of several different federal agencies, including

San Francisco based U.S. Civil Service Commission representatives Jack Dawson and Alan West, will also be present.

The workshop agenda will cover such topics as needs of the 70's, government hiring trends and procedures, the scope of federal exams for high school, two-year and four-year college graduates, college work-study programs and utilization of federal recruiting literature.

Think no one listens? We do. We CARE. We're Free. 24 hrs. Suicide Prevention Center 373-0713.

WHO CAN BEAT NIXON ?

That's the challenge of the new WHO CAN BEAT NIXON game. Great for home parties, gifts for your political-oriented friends. You'll have a lot of fun getting ready for your own primaries and then the final battle with one challenger against President Nixon for the 1972 presidential sweepstakes.

Play . . .

Sen. George McGovern
Sen. Edward Kennedy
Sen. Edmund Muskie
Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey
Mayor John Lindsay
Gov. George Wallace

President Nixon himself!

WHO CAN BEAT NIXON is a contest for up to seven challengers against Richard M. Nixon for the Presidency of the United States. To win, the challenger or Nixon must be the first to gain 270 electoral votes of the 538 cast by the state electoral colleges. Players obtain electoral votes by a combination of money, media points, and the luck of the dice.

WHO CAN BEAT NIXON is full of pitfalls—for everybody. You'll land on various states and buy their electoral votes, if you have enough money and media support, AND if the state isn't pre-empted by the "home state" principle.

WHO CAN BEAT NIXON allows you to draw MEDIA cards, and you and the other candidates can be awarded—or punished—by fictitious endorsements of the press. You also draw EVENT cards—and just as in real life your fate is decided by the course of these events. In the EVENT deck are PRIMARY cards. These precipitate contests that eliminate contenders as the campaign draws to a close. Nixon, naturally, can't be eliminated by PRIMARY cards, but he does run into special problems created by the MEDIA and EVENT cards, and in unforeseen problems awaiting him on the board. Penalties set at places like CABINET SHAKE-UP, KICKBACK SCANDAL, and CREDIBILITY GAP make the going heavy. There's a place for PEACE, too, but only Nixon wins an Eastern state when he lands there!

WHO CAN BEAT NIXON is an exciting, stimulating, fun-filled game, exasperating and rewarding as a real-life campaign! It isn't rigid . . . you can change the game to suit your own ideas of how a campaign should go—just by filling out the additional blank MEDIA and EVENT cards to fit your special interests and concerns.

WHO CAN BEAT NIXON can be ordered now by filling out the coupon on this page! It will be yours—to test your political prowess—and luck—in a matter of two to three weeks.

Makeba Detained

Singer Miriam Makeba, who left her native South Africa years ago and is now the wife of Stokeley Carmichael, was held in jail for a day in Copenhagen, Denmark, recently in a legal dispute over a $4,000 fee claimed by a theatrical agency there.

Police detained Miss Makeba after a court bailiff tried to interview her following a theater show she gave in Copenhagen for 1,700 enthusiastic fans.

She spent the night in Copenhagen's Women's prison and remained at a police station the next day until a stormy bailiff court session that night worked out a solution to the dispute.

The theatrical agency, Scandinavian Booking Agency, claimed that Miss Makeba owed $4,000 paid to her 18 months ago in advance fees for a show she never gave.

Miss Makeba, 39, who travels on a Guyanese diplomatic passport, was allowed to go free after the Guyanese ambassador to Rome, F. Keita, paid the money into court and the agency deposited an equivalent sum, allowing the claim to be settled in a civil action.

Annual Tax

Report Issued

The California Franchise Tax Board collected $1.73 billion in individual and corporate taxes during the 1970 calendar year, according to the department's annual report. Annual revenue declined by $7 million from the all-time high recorded for the 1969 calendar year.

Executive Officer Martin Huff said the decline was largely a result of the special 10 percent tax reduction allowed personal income taxpayers in 1969 and the effect of the general economic downturn on corporation profits.

Department-administered taxes accounted for 42 percent of the State's 1969-70 general fund revenues.

There were 5.6 million personal income tax returns filed and $1.16 billion in personal income taxes collected during 1970. The report shows a 5 percent increase in the number of taxable returns and a 7.5 percent increase in the total income reported.

The average income per return was $10,953, compared with $10,676 the previous year.

Of every 100 returns, 66 are filed by married couples filing jointly and 26 by single persons. The balance are filed by head of household and married persons filing separately.

Dividend income was reported on 24 of every 100 returns and interest income was reported on 51 of every 100.

Almost 137,000 bank and corporation tax returns were filed for the calendar year 1969 and income years ending in 1969.

Collections totaled $569 million, $43 million less than collected in calendar 1969. For State tax purposes, 39,000 corporations reported net losses and 17,000 reported no income or loss. Corporations in these groupings paid the minimum $100 annual franchise tax.

Gives Two Shows On Synthesizer

Thrilling, electric sounds of the Moog synthesizer will fill the galleries of the University Art Museum, Berkeley, when Doug McKechnie performs original compositions on Thursday and Friday, October 14 and 15, at 8 p.m.

Tickets are $2 and available at the door or, in advance, at both the Museum Bookstore and the ASUC Box Office.

McKechnie will also give a lecture-demonstration of the Moog on Thursday, October 14, from noon to 2 p.m. in the Museum Theatre. Admission is free but donations to the artist are welcome.

The Moog synthesizer, actually an analog computer that can fit on a table, was the first classical electronic instrument.

Antique Toy Display

In Catalog

The "Sears, Roebuck and Co. Collection of American Toys," recently donated to the Smithsonian Institution, is the inspiration for four pages of antique toy reproductions in the Company's Christmas catalog. The book is now being distributed to 13 million families across the nation.

The original reproductions of yesterday's vehicles are hand-crafted, cast-iron replicas of the originals, which date from about 1870 to 1930. They are being offered to toy and antique collectors in a limited edition—only 250 copies of each will be sold. Toys from the original collection will be displayed by the Smithsonian in Washington, D.C., and major cities around the country, the company said.

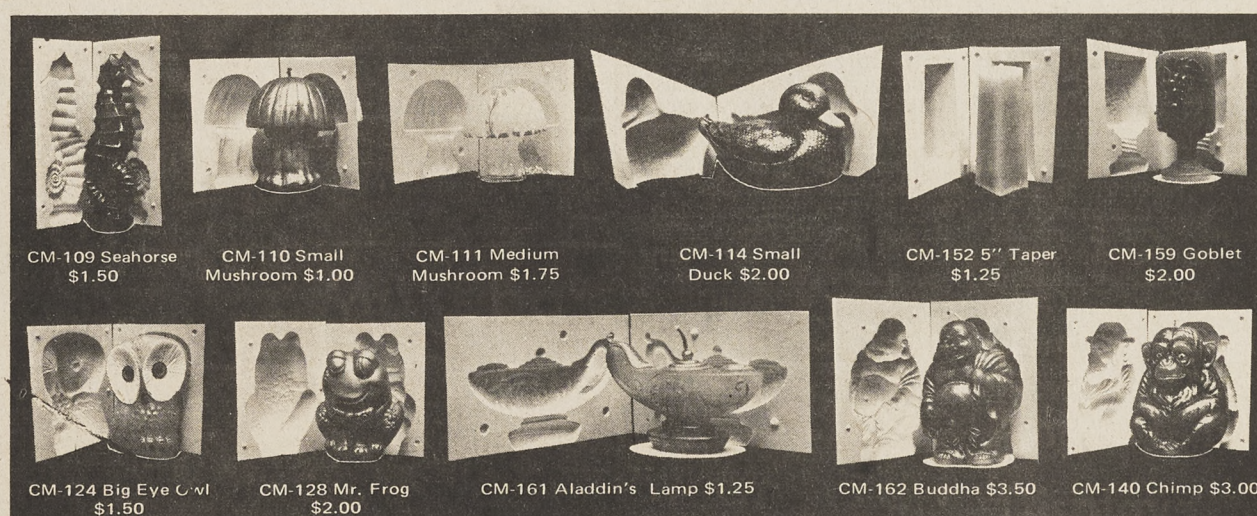

The 1971 "Wish Book" opens with 180 pages of toys, including the new "Wonder of Growing" for children up to age three. This is a 26-piece collection of colorful, inventive educational playthings designed by the late Dr. Esther P. Edwards of Tufts University. Also new this year is "Grampa," a grandfather doll who holds the "Gramma" collection.

In an effort to comply with the President's price freeze, which was ordered after the catalog was printed, a catalog insert assures customers they will pay no more than the price permitted by the President's order. On items "priced to include an upward adjustment that would have been normal in order to reflect increased costs," the insert says, "we will automatically refund any difference to you, or will charge your account the lower price."

Black Data Processors Get Federal Contract

The rapidly expanding data processing industry has spawned so many success stories that another "growth company" may sound old-hat.

But when the company is owned and managed by Blacks, it is worth another look.

Furthermore the story of this company is a case history of what can be achieved through joint action by community leaders, private industry and the federal government.

The firm -- DP Associates of Huntsville, Alabama -- received 51 percent of its financial backing from a local Black - owned organization chartered to promote new job opportunities for minority people. The remainder came from Computer Sciences Corporation, which maintains a major operations center in Huntsville.

Blacks now represent about one-third of the company's two dozen systems analysts, programmers, computer operators, technicians and office personnel.

Since its incorporation a year ago, the firm has had an enviable record of accomplishments. In October of 1970, it won a $350,000 contract that was first awarded by the General Services Administration (GSA) to a minority - owned data processing firm. Under the contract, DP Associates is providing complete technical support to the Federal Data Processing Center at Huntsville.

By December, the company had bid on some $400,000 of additional business at NASA's nearby Marshall Space Flight Center. Winning these contracts would provide 25 more jobs at DP Associates.

Computer Sciences, the nation's largest computer software company, is making its substantial resources available to the young company until it is well established. Executives of DP Associates can call on CSC for guidance in managing their day-to-day operations and establishing long-range plans.

The federal government is also helping. The GSA contract was awarded under provisions of the Small Business Act, which were specifically designed to foster the development of minority businesses.

The president of DP Associates is Nathaniel E. Griffin, a former CSC manager at the Marshall Space Center, site of one of the largest concentrations of computer power in the world. Griffin has a decade of experience in applying computers to scientific and business problems.

Education plays a major role in Griffin's plans for improving Blacks' opportunities. He recently established a four-year computer sciences curriculum at Alabama A. and M. University at Huntsville.

Now he hopes to arrange a cooperative program with the university that would provide on-the-job training to supplement academic courses, while also assisting students to work their way through school. Under his plan, students in the computer sciences would alternate semesters at DP Associates while attending the university.

"Our first objective is to build a good, professional computer services firm," Griffin says. "Just doing that will enable us to keep on providing job opportunities for qualified minority people."

Illegal To Blockbust

Boston Mayor Kevin White has signed into law an ordinance providing a $50 fine for blockbusting, a real estate practice whereby white families are urged to sell their homes which are then sold to Black families at inflated prices.

The law makes it illegal to "solicit the sale or listing for sale of residential property on the grounds of a current or prospective change in the ethnic, racial, social or religious character of the neighborhood."

Blockbusting occurs when an unscrupulous real estate agent tells a white family that Blacks are moving into the area and advises the family to sell out of fear that property values will decline and crime will increase.

When the family panics and sells, the real estate agent in turn sells the house to a Black family at an inflated price, making a large profit on the deal.

The mayor said one home in the Dorchester area was bought by a realty firm for $10,000 and resold the same day for $17,000.

The mayor conceded the fine was low but said that once a conviction is secured, the state could suspend the dealer's license, which he describes as "the ultimate punishment."

Execs Fear Implication Of Big Loan

According to corporation executives polled by Dun's financial magazine, the guarantee of bank loans to rescue Lockheed Aircraft Corporation, as made by Congress last month, set a dangerous precedent for American business.

The poll indicates a fear on the part of the businessmen that the $250-million loan guarantee will bring tighter federal controls and a belief that it is contrary to the concept of capital risk and reward implicit in the free enterprise system.

John T. Connor, now chairman of the Allied Chemical Corporation and former Secretary of Commerce under President Johnson, said that if the government got into the habit of guaranteeing loans to ailing companies, political favoritism would be bound to prevail.

"Capitalism is a risk reward system," said J. Peter Grace, president of W.R. Grace and Company. "If one limits the risk, it is inevitable that the gain will also ultimately be similarly limited."

Pasadena is reported by National Automobile Club to be known as "Queen City."

Minorities Get Short End Of It

In addressing delegates to the Federal Bar Convention held in New Orleans earlier this month, Assistant Secretary for Equal Opportunity Samuel J. Simmons of the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) pointed out that while minorities account for about 17 percent of the nation's population, "these groups own firms that receive only about seven-tenths of one percent of the total business receipts in this country."

The businesses of minority group members, Simmons said, had receipts totaling $10.6 billion in 1969.

The combined receipts of all American businesses had been $1,498 billion in that year.

According to Simmons, minority groups now own about 322,000 business firms -- about four percent of the total number of American enterprises. The vast majority of them are small retail shops and service firms, he pointed out.

"We all know that minority businessmen have never been the captains of the giant ships of commerce in America," said Simmons. "They have, rather, been like schools of porpoise playing around those industrial liners as they have plowed their way from the American Industrial Revolution to control more assets than the combined GNP of many countries."

Extending the porpoise likeness, Simmons said minority businessmen "have in the main subsisted on bits of food cast from the decks above."

Not enough, said Simmons, has actually been done toward solving the total problem of Black economic development. He said that most minority group entrepreneurs still operate small retail or service businesses and that there are few minority firms which
